To

TO THE PUBLIC.

WITHOUT dwelling on the Utility of History, or depreciating the various Methods hitherto made Use of to teach it to Youth, I humbly lay before a judicious Public the Plan of a Work, whose Title alone, new as it appears, may convey the Elucidation of the Subject.

As the Process by which common Occurrences in Life are recalled to Memory, is effected in starting from the present Time, and retrograding Step by Step, until we run (if I may so term it) against the Epocha or Event to be recollected; so deviating from the ordinary Path which Historians have trodden in, I begin with the Reign of LEWIS XVI. in tracing the Effect to the Cause, and descend to that of CLOVIS. The Ages preceding this being immerfed in Obscurity, and interwoven with Fable I shall include in a Supplementary Discourse.

In offering these feeble Ideas to the Public, I am not only incited by a full Persuasion, confirmed by Practice and Experience, that this Method is the only one to lay a solid Basis for acquiring a competent Knowledge of the System of History; but also by Gratitude for the Protection and Encouragement I have been honoured with the Continuation of which I shall always endeavour to deserve.
